1919 PRICE-LIST OF GLADIOLI BULBS

The location of our bulb farm is somewhat unusual, in that it is situated on a sunny crest among three beautiful lakes. The location of the farm furnishes a long growing season, with slight danger from late frosts, so that the bulbs which we ship are well matured and well ripened. The soil seems to be a deposit from some ancient geological formation, and is largely sandy loam and gravel.

Our stock is graded higher than the average, both in the size of the bulbs and in the quality, and it is unnecessary to say that the bulbs are clean and thoroughly healthy. We guarantee all varieties to be true to name, and, should any mistakes occur, we shall be very glad to replace the stock or to refund the money paid therefor; but we cannot be responsible beyond this point, nor for loss or damage to the bulbs while in transit or after planting.

To secure the very best results with these bulbs, they should be planted about 6 inches deep in sandy soil, and, approximately, 4 inches deep in heavy clay soil. Gladioli grow and bloom to perfection in the full sun and, therefore, partial shade should be avoided if possible. Under no circumstances should fresh manure or strong commercial fertilizers come in direct contact with the bulbs.

Terms

Cash with order. At the prices quoted we prepay postage or express charges to any point within the United States. 6 bulbs of any one kind will be sold at the dozen rate; or 50 bulbs of one kind at the 100 rate.
